

HARTING

January 2, 1948.

Dear John, Reiner

This letter is just to remind you of the conversation we had concerning Jane Harting. You might tell her that we will be well set up next Fall or summer for physiological and genetical work on bacteria, that I am looking for students and can (with all temperate assurance) find supporting funds from within or without the university. The sooner she can begin to enquire and perhaps apply the better, although, of course, please do not suggest that I was asking after her specifically. While I am particularly interested in pursuing the Salmonella program, I would not dictate to or against any students personal interests provided they lay in the general domain of microbial genetics.

Best regards, and best of luck.

Sincerely,
